University of Florida Student Government will be hosting an Infinity Hall Town Hall tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. to discuss issues facing the new residence hall and introduce students to their SG representatives.

The event will begin with a panel discussion and question period before concluding with a more informal meet and greet with students. The panel will consist of Student Body President Joselin Padron-Rasines, Senate Judiciary Chair Jason Richards and the ten newly-elected District A senators.

“SG wanted to set up and promote this event so that Infinity Hall residents have an opportunity to meet their representatives and talk about the issues that affect them as students,” Padron-Rasines said. “In light of the Infinity Hall senate debate, we are excited to bring the conversation directly to the people we represent.”

Residents and other attendees will be welcome to discuss the senate reapportionment debate with any of the panelists.

The event is open to the public in the lounge area of Infinity Hall.
